Today, like never before, the European Union is threatened by enemies of democracy.

We stand for a Europe that welcomes diversity and embraces all its benefits. We stand for delivering European solutions where we face common challenges on environmental issues, tackling inequalities and ensuring we are safe. This means standing up against populism, division, hate and violence.

Stand with us.

We stand for freedom, tolerance and democracy as fundamental values that are essential to our everyday lives. This means standing up against extremist forces and not surrendering to the same hate that has started wars in the past. Stand with us.

We stand for solidarity, fairness and equality among all people in Europe.

This means standing up against inequalities, prejudice and discrimination and helping those in society who most need help to improve everyone's daily lives.

Stand with us.

We stand for a progressive way of life in Europe, ensuring social rights for everyone.

Stand with us.

We have achieved a lot in our years of working together across borders and against the odds. And there is a lot more we can achieve together. To be able to do anything, we have to stand up against those that divide, stand up against those that spread hate, undermine democracy and resort to violence. Stand with us.

When we stand for solidarity, democracy and peace against the real threat to our core European values - stand with us.
